The user labeled a small percentage of the images in the database and then queried for images with labels similar to the image at the upper left, i.e. for images with the labels "building" and "street."

Picard and Minka (1995)